Dear Sirs

I am throwing myself at your mercy. I have a very critical situation on my hands. However, this situation can be resolved amicably, successfully and to the best interest of all parties concerned - providing I receive compassion and assistance.

The enclosed fax message will explain my current predicament. I have an Indonesian wife ('Ling-Ling') 'trapped' in the USA while I am likewise in the UK. It is causing very severe psychological and physical distress to both myself and my wife.

I desperately need urgent access to the USA to resolve my affairs there and to rescue my wife. Unless I can do this very quickly, I fear for both our lives. The distress we are both suffering is severely detrimental to our health and well-being.

I will say no more except that I am currently virtually destitute of all my possessions and critical necessities. This is severely hampering my attempt to obtain information which is vital to my future in the UK.

I beg, implore and humbly ask you to help me return to the USA in the next few days so that I can be with my wife while we are waiting for news of an application for a Visa for my wife to come to England. On this note, I should tell you I am seeing an attorney on Tuesday to process this application.

My wife and I are also sad that we no longer have any hope of life in the USA. It is a wonderful country and will cause us a great deal of heartbreak knowing we shall never see our friends there again.

With all of this in mind, I hope you can understand exactly how urgent this appeal is and will act quickly. We desperately need a sign that you can act mercifully and compassionately and without delay. I cannot wait at least 2 months for a Visa application which may ultimately be refused.

Yours sincerely,

[My former name] and 'Ling-Ling' (in absentia).

PS. I am trying to arrange Diplomatic representation through other sources. Please keep this in mind as I need to exploit all avenues of opportunity to protect the well-being of both myself and my wife.
